The Horse Guards, Whitehall. The King's Guard at Whitehall is furnished by the members of the Household Cavalry at Knightsbridge or Albany Street Barracks, each on alternate days. Five sentries are kept on guard, two of them from ten o'clock to four o'clock being mounted men—the only mounted sentries in the country. When Parliament is sitting or the King is in residence in London, the usual guard is augmented by an additional number of men, and by two officers, a trumpeter and the regimental colours.
